NO INTERVENTION BY U. S. EXCEPT IN AN EMERGENCY.

ADMINISTRATION OF DIAZ
MUSE SETTLE OWN TROUBLE.

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO IS DE-TERMINED THE DEMANDS OF THE INSURRECTOS SHALL NOT BE GRANTED.

WASHINGTON, March 24—While the American troops are to remain in Texas for three or four months and held ready for any emergency, the United States will leave the Diaz administration to work out its own salvation.

No credence is given the statements issuing from the revolutionary juntas that intervention has been promised by May 1.

It is understood the state department has formally decreed that shipments of provisions, arms and ammunition, travelling in the ordinary process of commerce, is perfectly legitimate and that the United states troops are not to interfere.

It is reported here that President Diaz may take the field within 30 days if his health will permit, and will personally direct the movements of the regular army in a strenuous campaign to put an end to the revolution. President Diaz is determined the demands of the followers of General Madero in the peace terms submitted, shall not be granted and he is determined to fight to the bitter end and wipe out the Revolutionists.

Father and Sons Shot—

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 24—Tragic details of real war are coming out of Mexico. An American mining engineer arrived here today and said the prefect of Chiapas, Mantezuma, captured General Talamantes, an insur-recto leader, and his two sons and condemned them to death. The father begged that the lives of his sons be spared, offering to turn over his fortune and life for his sons.
The pleadings of the father were in vain, however, and all three were shot.

Gen. Luque Assassinated—

LAREDO, Tex., March 24—General Luque, a member of the staff of President Diaz, who was sent to Chihuahua to quell the insurrectos, has been assassinated in a most stout manner. The body has been terribly mutilated, placed in a rough box and sent to Mexico City, the box containing the inscription, "From the insurrectos of Chihuahua to Porfirio, the Tyrant."

7,000 Recruits Wanted—

WASHINGTON, March 24—A total of 7,000 recruits have been called for by the war department to bring the infantry regiments of the regular army up to its full strength. A total of 2,000 recruits have already been sent to Texas.

MILWAUKEE, March 24—Six fire-jured when the Friend building in the wholesale district was destroyed by fire today. The dead and injured firemen were trapped on the roof, which caved in. In addition to these eight others are believed to be dead in the ruins. The firemen had gone to the roof to fight the flames, where they were caught and unable to escape.

The building was occupied by a number of different concerns and many of the girls at work in the building had narrow escapes from death. The total loss will exceed $300,000.

COMMERCE COMMISSION DECIDES
PUBLIC HAS RIGHT TO SAME RATE ON COAL AS OTHER RAILROADS.

WASHINGTON, March 24—The interstate commerce commission today decided a railroad can not charge a less rate on coal designed for use by other railroads than is charged the general public.

The decision is a most important one as it also applies to all other shipments.

SEEKING MORE INFORMATION;
GENERAL MANAGER INQUIRES.

PROSPECTS FOR GETTING LINE TO DELAND AND ACROSS TO DAYTONA LOOK BRIGHTER AT THIS TIME.

That the Postal Telegraph company is surely considering the proposition of extending its line into De-Land and from the county seat town to Daytona is shown by the receipt of a letter by the Daily News from the general manager in Pittsburg asking for full information and whether the people here really want a line of the Postal.

The letter states that the Postal company has become much interested in this subject since it was brought up by the Daily News and the Daytona board of trade and the prospects are that a thorough investigation will be made by the Postal officials.

With a line extended to DeLand it will be a matter of small expense for the Postal company to extend the line to Daytona and tap one of the best communities in the state of Florida or anywhere in the south. The inefficient service, inadequate hours and independent spirit of the Western Union has come to be a bore with the people in this vicinity and relief in the direction of the Postal would be gladly welcomed.

It's a waste of money to pay more than our price for Groceries and opportunity to fill a trial order, assuring you of entire satisfaction.

asking for an appropriation to es-

Capt. Mullen is working his way up meeting with much success in his work of soliciting signatures to the petition. The subject is one which interests every person along the East Coast and a deep waterway main-best opportunity of relief from the present oppression of the Florida

East Coast railroad.

The petition will be forwarded for presentation to congress as soon as the whole territory along the East Coast has been covered.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, and is connected with the peninsula opposite by a bridge.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes. A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing.

A short distance west of Port Orange are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a place that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. One time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast indigo and sugar cane plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those early days but has been in disuse for forty or fifty years.

A very interesting drive from Daytona is by ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through the principal street of Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland.

By L. C. DEMAREE.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who has ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, with hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments, both solid and liquid, ready for a cruise upon this beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with African draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artist's brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and awaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar build-ups but the eye, as it sweeps by is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; when they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed. At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute. From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

LAKE HELEN

Surrounded by several pretty lakes and guarded by lofty pine trees is Lake Helen, a winter resort of no little importance. Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

A STUDY OF NAPOLEON.

Mental Changes of the Fiery Corsican Shown by His Chirography.

Interesting and exhaustive studies have been made in France of Napoleon's chirography. When a young man Napoleon did not have a bad hand, although, like some other great men, he could never learn to spell. When he was an artillery officer his writing was simple and legible, as his life was simple and direct. But when the Corsican Captain Bonaparte distinguished himself at the siege of Toulon and became the French General Bonaparte his writing took on what has been called "a furious illegibility."

Curiously enough, from that time there seems to have been a gradual degeneration until, profoundly discouraged and utterly humiliated, he scratched an undecipherable, mis-spelled scrawl of submission to the prince regent on July 14, 1815.

It is said that this change from a simple to a confused writing began at a certain date—namely, with a report, skillfully garbled, of the part he took in what Carlyle called the "whiff of grapeshot that spoke from the steps of St. Roch on the 13th Vendémiaire" (Oct. 5, 1795).

The culminating eccentricity of his tortuous strokes of the pen was exhibited in the letter P. This showed plainly the mental changes of the man who would unhesitatingly declare war against the first comer, who would divorce the wife he loved, who would propose a kingdom of Haiti for Louis XVIII., who would freeze nearly a million men upon the steppes of Russia. This letter P became of strange and abnormal form. It was excessively developed. For twenty years the great general used this extravagant and, according to the investigators, accusing letter, especially noticeable in his later unroyal signature, NP.—Harper's Weekly.

FORETOLD BY DREAMS.

Two Remarkable Cases in Which Sleep Warnings Came True.

"I dreamed that the ship was in a heavy sea, that a big wave came over her bows, pressed down upon her, and then she rolled over on her starboard side and disappeared."

This is not an extract from a story. It is evidence, given on oath, during the inquiry at London into the mysterious disappearance of the Waratah, the vessel which, on her second voyage, mysteriously disappeared in July, 1909, and has never been heard of since. And so impressed was the passenger with the vision that he left the vessel at Durban, from which point she continued on her ill fated voyage. Thus one more was added to the extraordinary coincidences in which dreams have figured.

The third Lord Waterford was able to verify a story of an extraordinary dream coming true. Talking one day with the landlord of the inn in the village close to Carrigrohane, a man rushed up and said there had been a murder on the hills. "Then it must be the little one," said the landlord, at which Lord Waterford, not unnaturally, became very suspicious. The landlord proceeded to explain that in the night he dreamed that two men had come to the inn and that the taller of the two had murdered the shorter with a very curious knife.

He told his dream to his wife, who laughed at him. But, to his horror, the men he had seen while asleep came to the inn, and one used the curious knife to cut up his food. They left, and soon afterward news of the murder arrived. Search was made for a tall man answering to the landlord's description, and one was quickly arrested. In prison he confessed he had murdered his short companion.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Cowboy's Handkerchief.

"Have you ever wondered why the cowboy pictures by painters who have made a study of western life depict the man of the plains with his red bandanna halfway down on his chest instead of fitting snugly around his neck?" queried a ranch owner of California.

"I'll tell you. When a cowboy starts on a long ride over the plains one of his principal annoyances is having to wipe dust from his eyes. His heavy gauntlets make it impossible to use his hands, and he ties his handkerchief loosely around his neck and when occasion requires uses it to clear his eyes. It is the most convenient place to carry the handkerchief while riding a horse."—Washington Post.

They Help the Justices.

Each United States supreme court justice has a body servant assigned to him, and this servitor is a sore trial to many. The body servants, now called "messengers," descend from justice to justice. Several are old men. Their usual attitude toward their particular justices is that of tutor toward pupil. They dictate in all matters of etiquette and are generally bothersome. But there's no getting rid of them. They're an institution having precedent.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Her Scrap Book.

"Do you keep a scrap book, Mrs. Rowdy?" asked her friend, Mrs. McGuffey, apropos of nothing in particular.

"Well, in a sort of way," said Mrs. Rowdy. "I keep a diary and whenever Mr. Rowdy and I have a tiff I make a note of it."—Judge.

Great Error.

"My hero dies in the middle of my latest novel," said the young author. "That's a grave mistake," replied the editor. "He should not die before the reader does."—Atlanta Constitution.

His System of Self Defense.

"Have you ever studied the art of self defense?" said a young fellow to a man of magnificent physique and noble bearing.

The elder man looked at his questioner with a quiet smile and then answered thoughtfully:

"Yes, I have studied and practiced it."

"Ah!" said the other eagerly. "Whose system did you adopt?"

"Solomon's," was the reply. "Somewhat abashed, the youth stammered out: 'Solomon's! What is the special point of his system of training?'"

"Briefly this," replied the other: "'A soft answer turneth away wrath.'"

For the moment the young man felt an inclination to laugh and looked at his friend anxiously to see whether he was serious. But a glance at the accomplished athlete was enough, and soon a very different sort of feeling came over the youth as his muscular companion added, with silent emphasis, "Try it."—Christian Endeavor World.

The "Green Flash" at Sunset.

A correspondent writes that during the course of a voyage when midway between Marseilles and the strait of Bonifacio a "green flash" was seen at sunset. The sky was perfectly clear after a cloudless day, with little wind. As the sun approached the horizon the line 'twixt sea and sky for about forty five degrees each side of the sun became suffused with a rich dull rose pink, and the waves reflected a marvellous ruby shade on their surfaces facing the sunset, while the other faces were an opalescent blue or green from the upper sky. The two colors flashed and changed in a marvelous way. Such intensity of coloring had never been seen by those on board. The sun set clean into the sea, and about ten (or less) seconds after it had disappeared a bright green single flash, just like a railway signal lamp, but brighter far, met our view and rewarded our watching for it.—Symons' Meteorological Magazine.

A Good Creed.

To be able to look every man squarely in the eyes; to make friends and hold them; to keep clean of mind and body; to smile at ill fortune; to laugh at my mistakes; to frown when temptation comes availing; to be ready with a word of cheer when that word will help; to strive to develop to the utmost the heart, head and hand qualities endowed by the Ruler over all; to hold all women in respect and to love one; to weave the thread of eternal optimism into the lives of all with whom I may come in contact; to worship nature and the Great Spirit that conceived it all—in a word, to play the game of life with a steady hand and a quailless conscience and a real desire to be of service—that is my religion. And, say, if I can live up to the mark, don't you think I've corralled about all the creed that is necessary?—

Excellent Hunting and Fishing
NEW SMYRNA, FLORIDA

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the state of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the state is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

AID OF COMPTROLLER ASKED BY DAILY NEWS.

Asking the assistance of the state comptroller to get the members of the Florida state railroad commission to Daytona while the tourist season is still at its height, the following telegram has been sent by the Daily News to A. C. Cron:

"Please use your influence to get the Florida state railroad commission to visit Daytona at once to investigate the transportation facilities here. The depot is entirely inadequate and other conditions are most unsatisfactory. A visit of the commission will be useless after the tourist season has closed as they must see conditions now to appreciate the situation. Anything you can do will be appreciated greatly in this community."

Knox, are guests at the Morgan hotel, while the doctor, who is an eminent surgeon, is enjoying a brief respite from the demands of his large practice. Dr. and Mrs. Wylie are not visiting Daytona for the first time, however, as they were in the city for a short time some nine or ten years ago.
Mr. and Mrs. James S. Parker, of Salem, N. Y., who are staying at the Ridgewood, with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus H. Rogers, had a very enjoyable trip to DeLeon Springs Thursday. Mr. Parker, whose parents are spending the winter in a cottage on Volusia avenue, is state senator of New York, and is "paired" for this short visit to Daytona, in the strife for United States senator in that state.
C. S. Collins, wife and daughter of Gloversville, N. Y., and W. K. Keller, wife and daughter of Corydon, Ind., who have been guests at the Gables hotel for some time, departed Thursday for St. Augustine on their way homeward. Messrs. Collins and Keller drove their automobiles to St. Augustine, being accompanied by their daughters, the Misses Hazel Collins and Ruth Keller, while Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Keller made the trip aboard the steamer Republic.

FUNERAL EFFIGIES.
A Queer Custom That Was Followed in Bygone Days.
At the funerals of great personages, the old chronicles tell us, "his lively effigy," dressed to imitate life, was carried in a chariot before the corpse to the grave, then there set up under a "hearse" or a temporary monument in the church. Such effigies were often left in a glass case standing over the vault where the interment had taken place. Some statues were of wood, with heads of plaster, but the more modern ones were of wax.
In the olden days laudatory poems or epitaphs were affixed with pins or wax to these "hearses" and were even thrown into graves on the coffins in a similar manner to our modern custom of flowers at a burial.
When Skelton, poet laureate to Henry VIII., "took sanctuary at Westminster to escape the displeasures of the then all powerful Cardinal Wolsey it is said that he substituted on what he earned by writing epitaphs for use at funerals in the abbey.
Ben Jonson's well known epitaph to the Countess of Pembroke—was evidently thus attached to her "hearse."—Westminster Gazette.

She Didn't Want Tickets.
There was a number of ticket buyers in the theater lobby. Following the unwritten law, they had formed in line and were being waited upon according to precedence. Suddenly an overdressed woman, ignoring the line, rushed up to the window and tried to engage the attention of the box office man.
The box office man shook his head at her. "Madam," he said, with some emphasis, "you must take your place at the foot of the line."
"Foot of the line?" she repeated.
"Nonsense!"
"You will not get any tickets," declared the man, "until all these people in the line have been served."
"Tickets!" replied the woman. "I don't want any tickets. All I want is change for a dime. Two nickels will do. Thanks."
And she hastily rustled out.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Conscience.
It was De Quincey who likened conscience to the whispering gallery in St. Paul's, London. A word spoken ever so softly on one side of the vast dome is loudly repeated on the other. In youth conscience chided him in sullen whispers; in old age, at the other end of his life gallery, the same conscience spoke to him in peals of thunder. The still small voice which the boy would not hear returned to the old man like the crack of doom in terrible self reproaches. Even Nero, the monster, had to fly from the spot where he had caused his mother to be murdered. He fancied he was haunted by her angry ghost; that he heard the blowing of a ghostly trumpet and wallings over her tomb. What a terrible discoverer of sin conscience is!—Christian Herald.

HARPOONED PORPOISE IN MOSQUITO INLET.
W. E. Blodgett entertained a sag party aboard his boat, Swastika, Wednesday, with a trip to the inlet and an excursion of several miles out to sea.
The Swastika crossed the bar and was out several miles at sea in the forenoon, but returned to Ponce Park for dinner, putting out to sea again for a distance of four or five miles in the afternoon.
While out at sea Mr. Blodgett harpooned and landed a porpoise seven or more feet in length and weighing about 300 pounds. It was brought up to Ponce Park and photographed and later turned adrift in the inlet.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforts of extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth, air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straight-away record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rival.

The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobilizing some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors in both towns.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated. The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy.

PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE, March 23.—Lou Cook, of Ponce Park, was in Port Orange one day last week.

W. A. Bennett of Daytona, is painting his cottage on Herbert avenue.

Thursday afternoon the Literary society met in Ridgewood hall and in the evening we had another of those very pleasant parties at the hall.

Saturday there was quite an exciting game of quoits played between W. Brewer, Dr. Lathrop, W. E. Lyon and W. W. Woodrow. Mr. Lyon was the victor.

Mr. Scott, who has been ill for a long time, died Saturday morning at his home on South Riverside. The funeral was held Sunday at one o'clock, the services being at his late home, followed by interment in Pine-wood cemetery.

The ladies of the Eastern Star gave a banquet in Ridgewood hall Wednesday to the Masons who are in Port Orange. It was reported to be a very nice affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Riefsneider are entertaining an aunt, who is visiting them. Monday the Good Times club met at the home of Mrs. D. E. Lyon.

Tuesday Mrs. Lyon entertained at dinner D. W. Winn and Miss Winn and Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst, of Ilinois. Mr. and Mrs. Parkhurst left for their home that afternoon.

Mrs. Stillman and her little son left Monday for their northern home. Mrs. Milburn was hostess of the card party Tuesday evening.

The Retort Courteous.

This is the sort of conversation one overhears between newly married couples:

Him—Oh, I'm tired of hearing about your brother Bob! Shut up about him! One would think he had all the manly virtues.

Her—Well, he may not be such an angel as all that, but he isn't such a fool as you are.

Him—You bet he isn't. He's a bachelor!—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Very Special.

A young medical student was being quizzed by one of his teachers. "In what will you specialize?" he was asked.

"Diseases of the nostril," replied the student.

"Good!" said the professor enthusiastically. "Which nostril?"—Success.

Left Hand Salutes.

To salute with the left hand is a deadly insult to Mohammedans in the east.

PUFFED THEIR OWN WARES.

Authors in the Good Old Days Threw Bouquets at Themselves.

Authors in "the good old days" were not above writing their own puff. Charles Reade wrote a long article on himself for Once a Week, in which he said:

It is impossible to speak too highly of "The Cloister and the Hearth." It is one of the most scholarly and learned as well as one of the most artistic and beautiful works of fiction in any language. Read him! Resign yourself to the magic spell of his genius. The effect of "Foul Play" is perfectly marvelous. It leaves the stories of every other sensational novelist writer far behind.

Nor was Balzac in France above praising his own works. "If you have not been born a story teller," he wrote in a review, "you will never obtain the popularity of M. de Balzac. And what a story teller! What verve and wit! How the world is dissected by this man! What passion and coolness!"

But the height of literary advertising in the first half of the last century was reached in the case of Eugene Sue's famous novel "The Wanderer Jew." Every little while the daily installment in the newspaper in which it was appearing would be missing, and in its place would be an announcement that M. Sue was suffering from a slight indisposition and readers would be obliged to wait forty-eight hours for new developments of the narrative. So well did these methods succeed, says Mr. Tassin, that it was impossible to buy outright a copy of the journal, but instead copies were rented out at 10 sous for half an hour, the time thought necessary to read the installment. "And all the while Sue himself was industriously abetting the publishers by posing over-dressed and with spurs to his boots at the Cafe de Paris in an attitude of deepest abstraction, as if wondering what the next installment would be about."—Bookman.

NESTS OF SEAWEED.

Floating Homes for Flying Fish in the Sargasso Sea.

Science is beginning to know a good deal more than it formerly did about that strange "drowned meadow" in the Atlantic ocean southwest of the Azores which is called the Sargasso sea.

It is, as is well understood, a vast accumulation of a kind of seaweed which, upheld at the surface of the water by innumerable little air vessels that act as floats, is continually renewed by the breaking up of its fronds and the growth of the broken parts. Many fishes have established their homes in it as well as numerous swimming crabs, small cuttlefish and quite a variety of other creatures.

Most remarkable of all its inhabitants is the mouse fish, which has pectoral fins developed in such a way as to resemble arms. By these it holds on to the fronds of the weed, a creature of solitary habits, highly carnivorous and always waiting for some prey to come within reach. It is a fish of very peculiar appearance, with ever so many queer looking appendages, and in color it imitates closely the plant that affords it shelter, being green with white spots.

The flying fishes that inhabit the floating meadow make ball-like nests out of fronds of the weed as big as two fists. Such balls are found floating and appear as if knit together with elastic threads. They are filled with eggs. Professor Louis Agassiz mistook them for nests of the mouse fish, but Dr. Theodore Gill, an eminent authority, has proved this to have been an error. Each one of these nests is composed of a single frond, which by commencing with the slenderest outer branchlets and peeling them successively off can be spread out entire.—New York World.

Magnets in Needle Factories.

In factories where needles are made the grindstones throw off great quantities of minute steel particles, although the dust is too fine to be perceptible to the eye. Breathing the dust shows no immediate effect, but gradually sets up irritation, usually ending in pulmonary consumption, and formerly almost all the workmen died before the age of forty. Ineffective attempts were made to screen the air by gauze or linen guards for nose and mouth. At length the use of the magnet was suggested, and now masks of magnetized steel wire are worn by workmen and effectually remove the metal dust before the air is breathed.—London Telegraph.

Premature.

The Fair Purchaser—Your eggs are all very small today. Mr. Jones. Mr. Jones—Yes'm, they are, but I'm sure I don't know the reason. The Fair Purchaser—Oh, I expect you took them out of the nests too soon.—London Sketch.

ORMOND-ON-THE-HALF

ORMOND is 4 miles north of Daytona, on the west of the Halifax River. The location is a perfect arrangement; elevation is such and ideal for winter homes. A fine bridge connects Ormond with Daytona Beach. Many fine homes are maintained on either side of the river, most of them surrounded by subtropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

Ormond has many attractions—excellent automobile, good fishing, safe boating, and many pleasant drives. At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, the Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax, and the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

Besides the broad, smooth beach there are many drives for carriages and automobiles around Ormond—drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of noble settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of the most interesting of these plantations is at the headquarters of the Halifax and known as Moundgrove. It is one of the finest orange groves on the East Coast of Florida and is amid very pretty surroundings. Moundgrove is on the Daytona-Saint Augustine road.

SOOTHED THE SPIRITS.

A Preliminary to House Building in the Shan States.

House building in the Shan States is not such an easy matter as it looks. Mrs. Leslie Milne, author of "Shans at Home," tells how she arranged for the building of a bamboo house at Nam-shan, and, though the materials arrived, no progress seemed to be made with the actual construction:

"When I first spoke of house building I had been asked—what to me seemed an irrelevant question—namely, the day of the week on which I was born. When I answered that it was late on Saturday night or early on Sunday morning I did not know that my reply was of importance. As time went on and the bamboos lay untouched, looking like long green snakes in the grass, I complained of the delay only to be told that until I could tell them my birthday they were afraid to begin work, as the spirits would be angry if the offerings for the proper day were not made."

"I suggested that the building should begin, I braving the anger of the spirits, but they thought the work too dangerous, as the risk was not only for me, but for the workmen as well. On consulting a wise man a way was found out of the difficulty. He decreed that an extra large offering to content the spirits of both Saturday and Sunday should be made. This was done, and the building commenced next day."

SINGING SANDS.

Peculiar Properties of These Curious Freaks of Nature.

The most notable of these curious freaks of nature, "singing sands," are those of the Hawaiian island of Kauai. When a small quantity of this sand is clapped between the hands it is said to give forth a sound so shrill as actually to resemble a boot. Put into a bag and violently shaken, the sand emits a noise strangely like the bark of a dog.

Similar sands also occur in the Colorado desert, where also are to be found those curious non-sedimentary sands that continually travel hither and thither over the vast plain of clay. Their movements are induced by the winds, and when a strong breeze is blowing the particles of which they are composed give out an audible humming or singing.

Under the microscope these sands show an almost perfectly spherical form, so that they roll upon each other at the slightest impulse, a circumstance that also accounts for the rapidity with which the sands travel over the desert. One theory advanced with respect to the "singing" of these sands is that it is due to an exceedingly thin film of gas that covers the grains. Gathered and removed from the desert, the sands lose their vocal properties.

Ryan, the corner cop, gave us the best definition of strategy we have ever heard. "Strategy," says Ryan, "is when ye keep right on shootin' as the innay won't know ye're all out av ammunition"—Cleveland Plain Dealer

Misunderstood.
Miss Butte—How dared you kiss me? Didn't you hear me say "Sir!" when you asked me if you might? Jack Slanger—I thought you said "Cert."—Boston Transcript.

"Don't you like to get close to nature sometimes?"
"Sure. I'm very fond of these palm rooms."—Pittsburg Post.

"Lincoln, himself a superb writer," said a college professor, "could not stand tedious writing in others. He once condemned for its tediousness a Greek history, whereupon a diplomat took him to task."

"The author of that history, Mr. President," said the diplomat, "is one of the profoundest scholars of the age. Indeed, it may be doubted whether any man of our generation has plunged more deeply in the sacred fount of learning."

"Yes, or come up drier," said Lincoln.

A VOLCANIC MONUMENT.

Wonderful Old Balancing Rock Near Portland, Ore.

One of the most remarkable rocks in the world is that known as the "balancing rock," which stands on the bank of the Willamette river a short distance above the city of Portland, Ore. Rising from a broad base is a small column roughly round in shape. Just above this is a huge mass of rock, a tree on the summit, the total height of rock and column being about a hundred feet.

Although a great deal larger and heavier than the pillar on which it stands, the big rock is very accurately balanced. For how many centuries this odd freak has stood not even the most scientific are able to determine, but it has evidently been there for a very long period.

The entire rock is of a volcanic nature, and the most singular thing about it is the fact that the knob and pillar are entirely disjointed from one another. Wind and weather no doubt are slowly wearing the "balancing rock" away, but the process is so imperceptible that, falling some unforeseen catastrophe, the monument will probably endure for many centuries.—Wide World Magazine.

Making Up an Actor.

In making up an amateur actor should remember that as little paint as possible should be used, for, while it is easy to disguise by a thick mask of pigment, the heavier the makeup the more difficult it is to convey sensitive emotional variations by the changing expression of the face. If it is possible to arrange one's own hair in a way suitable to the character so much the better, for, though it may in no way seem more real than a wig, it will prove infinitely more comfortable. When the actor looks as much like the part as he possibly can without the aid of artificial disguise he begins to apply nose paste, paint and powder, obliterating one characteristic and accentuating another, painting the eyebrows out and redrawing them, changing the color of the skin, putting shadows around the eyes and sinister lines running from the nostrils. He adds a roughly shaped beard or mustache of crape hair if the character demands it.—Harper's Weekly.

Wonderful Hats.

On one occasion Lincoln was presented with two fine hats, each by a different hatter, neither knowing that the other had made such a contribution. In the course of events they called upon the president, and it so happened that both called at the same time. When both found themselves in the presence of the executive they asked how he had liked the hats they had sent him, and, taking advantage of the opportunity of securing a statement of superiority of one or the other make, the president was asked to state his preference. To many men such a question would be very embarrassing, but to Lincoln not at all. He took the hat, one in each hand, and then replied gravely, but with a mischievous twinkle in his keen eyes:

"Gentlemen, your hats do mutually surpass each other."

An Honored Pig.

A four footed discoverer is honored in the town hall of Luneburg, Prussia. It is a memorial to a pig that breathed its last 300 years ago. This consists of a handsome glass case enclosing a ham in excellent preservation, and underneath a black marble tablet with the following inscription in gold letters: "Passersby, here you behold the mortal remains of the pig which acquired for itself imperishable glory by the discovery of the salt springs of Luneburg."

Harvest Time.

Teacher—Now, Earlie, tell us when is the harvest season? Earlie—From November to March. Teacher—Why, Earlie, I am surprised that you should name such barren months. Who told you they were the harvest season? Earlie—Pa. He's a plumber.—Milwaukee News.

Both Recovering.

Friend—Ah, doctor, how did you make out with that cranky patient of yours? Doctor—Oh, we're both on the road to recovery. He's able to be about and I am sulking for my bill.—Exchange.

Nature fits all her children with something to do.—Lowell.

FLAG ON THE ARMORY ONLY HALF WAY UP.

Queries have been pouring into the Daily News office as to why the flag on the Armory is at half mast. Some have been so unkind as to ask if it was because of the deplorable condition of affairs on the East Coast railway, others, of course, thought some high official of the railroad, state or nation might be dead. Neither of the suggestions constitute the real reason. The man who raised it failed to get it up to the top of the pole—so Captain Cowan states.

ESCAPES AT HASTINGS.

HASTINGS, Fla., March 24—Today there remains nothing of the Hastings jail but a heap of ashes, but a negro prisoner, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Greene on a charge of breaking and entering, has escaped. It was evident the prisoner had entered the jail with some matches secreted about his person and had burned the jail to get out, making good his escape.

A NO. 1 ON WAY HERE; NOW IN JACKSONVILLE.

"A No. 1," just a tramp, hailing from nowhere in particular and every place in general, is in Florida and will probably soon blow into Daytona, as is his usual custom when he strikes this section of the country. He is now in Jacksonville and may remain in the metropolis of the state long enough to take in the automobile races. "A No. 1" claims to have traveled over 500,000 miles since 1883 and that he has spent but $7.61 for transportation during that time.

Spelling the Tobacco.

Winchcombe St. Peter, in Gloucestershire, began the cultivation of tobacco in England toward the end of the sixteenth century, and the inhabitants are said to have derived considerable profit from it until the trade was placed under restrictions. An entry in Pepy's Diary on Sept. 19, 1667, concerning the coming of a cousin of his to town proceeds: "She tells me how the life guard which we thought a little while since was sent down into the country about some insurrection was sent to Winchcombe to spoil the tobacco there, which, it seems, the people there do plant contrary to law and have always done and still been under force and danger of having it spoiled, as it hath been oftentimes, and yet they will continue to plant it. The place, she says, is a miserable poor place."—London Globe.
